On May 10, 2010, the national election for the Philippine senators was held. Out of the 61 candidates for the senatorial race, 12 were to be proclaimed as winners. On May 15, 2010 nine senatorial candidates who were leading the race were proclaimed as winners. Three days after on May 18, 2010, the last three remaining senatorial slots were filled up with the proclamation of the last three winning candidates.

The total number of votes counted by the PCOS Machines in the senatorial race was 297,036,114 votes. However, the actual number of voters who voted for the senatorial race was 38,149,371. Hence, on the average each voter voted for about 8 out of the 12 available slots for the senatorial race.

Since a voter is required to vote for 12 or less unique candidates, it follows that a senatorial candidate received one or no vote from each voter.

The margin of error of the PCOS COUNT is based on the number of voters who actually voted for the senatorial race. Hence, based on the results of the mock elections of July 24-25, 2012 the PCOS Machines miscounted the votes of 2.78481% of 38,149,371 or a total miscount of 1,062,388 votes.

We consider in Table 1 the 11th to 14th Positions of the Result of the PCOS COUNT ON THE 2010 SENATORIAL CONTEST.

Table 1. May 2010 Senatorial Contest: 11th-14th Positions as Counted by the PCOS Machines
Position	Senatorial Candidate	PCOS COUNT
11	LitoLapid	11,025,805
12	TeofistoGuingona III	10,277,352
13	RisaHontiveros-Baraquel	9,106,112
14	RuffyBiazon	8,626,514

The PCOS Machines counted 11,025,805 votes for the 11th ranking senatorial candidate. If the PCOS MISCOUNT of 1,062,388 votes will be subtracted or added from the PCOS COUNT, the TRUE COUNT for the 11th ranking candidate ranges from as low as 9,963,417 or as high as 12,088,193.

Applying the same procedure on the 12th, 13th and 14th Positions we have Table 2.

Position	Senatorial Candidate	PCOS COUNT	TRUE COUNT
			LOW	HIGH
11	LitoLapid	11,025,805	9,963,417	12,088,193
12	TeofistoGuingona III	10,277,352	9,214,964	11,339,740
13	RisaHontiveros-Baraquel	9,106,112	8,043,724	10,168,500
14	RuffyBiazon	8,626,514	7,564,126	9,688,902

Hence, we counted 5 possibilities for the 11th and 12th places after considering the PCOS MISCOUNT OF 1,062,388 votes. See Table 3.

No.	11th PLACE	12th PLACE
1	LitoLapid	TeofistoGuingona III
2	LitoLapid	RisaHontiveros-Baraquel
3	LitoLapid	RuffyBiazon
4	TeofistoGuingona III	LitoLapid
5	TeofistoGuingona III	RisaHontiveros-Baraquel

For example, we can have a LitoLapid for the 11th place and RisaHontiveros-Baraquel for the 12th place, if LitoLapid's TRUE COUNT is the PCOS COUNT of 11,025,805 and RisaHontiveros-Baraquel had a HIGH TRUE COUNT of 10,168,500 while TeofistoGuingona III had a LOW TRUE COUNT of 9,214,964.

Hence, the PCOS MISCOUNT of 2.78481% of the total number of actual voters of 38,149,371 produces uncertainty for the 11th and 12th Places in the May 2010 Senatorial Race.

Therefore, a 100% Manual Recount must be conducted to determine the real winners for the 11th and 12th places of the May 2010 senatorial election.
